BANKERS LIFE FIELDHOUSE

With 750,000 square feet and 18,165 seats, this is a fairly new house that is, remarkably, in just its 15th year, an old home.

Bankers Life Fieldhouse, opened Nov. 6, 1999, when the Indiana Pacers hosted the Boston Celtics, is a step into the future while taking a walk back into history. It's big, yet comfortable. It has all the modern appliances, yet there's that favorite old picture on the wall. It is a building that is unique in today's sports society because the extra effort was made to make it that way. In other words, if you have a religion, you must build the appropriate cathedral.

In Indiana, basketball is religion. Bankers Life Fieldhouse is a cathedral. That's why the home of the Indiana Pacers and Indiana Fever is unique.

"We wanted this building to have a kind of special feeling to it, that when people came into it they felt part of the tradition that the building is for," said Donnie Walsh, then the Pacers Sports & Entertainment CEO & President who was instrumental in the Fiedlhouse becoming a reality. "I think this is a pure basketball arena that reflects the game itself and the roots of the game."

Ground was broken on July 22, 1997 on the $183 million multi-purpose facility and while there were blueprints, a scale model and dreams, it was hard for anyone at the time to fathom what would evolve. But what has risen 14 stories into the Indianapolis skyline is a fit perfect for the city, the state, the game of basketball at any level and the various events a facility of this type would host.

"There are so many features that make it one-of-a-kind," said Tom Proebstle, Project Designer for Ellerbe Beckett, the Fieldhouse design firm. "The most obvious feature is the two huge glass curtain walls facing east and west that mark the beginning of an incredible architectural promenade as you are approaching downtown on the highway and see the lit-up glass set against the Indianapolis skyline. No other arena in the world can claim this. I'm sure it will be copied many times over."

That's the view from the outside. Inside, the unique look and feel of Bankers Life Fieldhouse takes over. The Indiana University Health Entry Pavilion is a vast gathering place that funnels fans to the Grand Staircase. As patrons make their way up the staircase, their view takes them to their first look at the seating bowl (another unique feature) or to large memorabilia cases on each side of the entrance to the Fieldhouse seating bowl.

From there, no matter which direction one takes, it's a nostalgic look. From the signage, to the concession stands, to the sponsor pavilions, to the bathrooms, to the one-of-a-kind Practice Court, to the light fixtures, to the scoreboard, Bankers Life Fieldhouse is unique, distinct and, as Pacers' great Reggie Miller described, "Unbelievable. Absolutely unbelievable. Far beyond my expectations."

Bankers Life Fieldhouse has suites (69), club seats (2,400) and state-of-the-art amenities. But it has a look and feel unlike any other indoor facility.

This unique feel has brought many comparisons and compliments to Bankers Life Fieldhouse. The USA Today calls the Fieldhouse "A Cathedral to Basketball" and Amusement Business Magazine refers to Bankers Life Fieldhouse as "The Camden Yards of Basketball." NBC's Bob Costas said Bankers Life Fieldhouse "is winning raves all around the league, many think it's the best building in the NBA."

A 2006 survey by the Sports Business Journal ranked Bankers Life Fieldhouse as the No. 1 venue in the NBA. An informal ranking in the Orange County Register, in 2008, echoed the same rating.

In addition to hosting the Indiana Pacers and Fever, the Fieldhouse has hosted major boxing events and visits from Pavarotti, Bill Cosby, Bruce Springsteen, Elton John and Billy Joel, Bob Seger, George Strait & Reba McIntire, The Boston Pops, John Mellencamp, Paul McCartney, Tim McGraw & Faith Hill, The Dixie Chicks, NSync, AC/DC, Britney Spears, Carrie Underwood, Crosby Stills, Nash & Young, Kid Rock, U2, Hannah Montana, Disney On Ice and Dancing With The Stars. It has also played host to the 2002 FIBA World Basketball Championships, the 2004 FINA World Short Course Swimming Championships and the United States Gymnastics Championships. In April 2011 and 2016, it played host to the NCAA Women's Final Four, and will welcome the NCAA men's regional basketball tournament in 2017. In 2012 the Fieldhouse provided a border to the east side of the Super Bowl Village for Super Bowl XLVI. It has been a nearly annual host of the Big Ten Conference men's and women's basketball tournaments, and a gathering point for the National FFA Convention – the nation's largest annual youth gathering.

Additionally, Bankers Life Fieldhouse has been cited for its compliance and exceeding of ADA (Americans with Disabilities Act) requirements.

Bankers Life Fieldhouse was the host site of the 2011 and 2016 NCAA Women's Final Fours, crowning Texas A&M and Connecticut as national champions.

WELCOME TO INDIANAPOLIS

What's to love about Indianapolis?

Plenty.

There are big-time professional and college sports, led by the NBA Indiana Pacers, the 2012 WNBA champion Indiana Fever and past NFL Super Bowl champion Indianapolis Colts.

There is the world-famous Indianapolis Motor Speedway, home to the world's two largest single-day sporting events (the Indianapolis 500 and the Allstate 400 at the Brickyard). The Speedway's Hall of Fame Museum is a year-round attraction.

There is the city's renowned reputation as an amateur sports capital, serving as home to the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), four national sports governing bodies, Super Bowl XLVI, NCAA Men's and Women's Final Fours, the Big Ten Men's and Women's Basketball Tournaments, Big Ten Football Championship and numerous regional, national and international championships.

Besides the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, it boasts three of the finest sports venues in the world: Bankers Life Fieldhouse (home to the Pacers and Fever), Lucas Oil Stadium (home to the Colts) and Victory Field (home to the Triple-A Indianapolis Indians), not to mention historic Hinkle Fieldhouse on the campus of Butler University. Just a short walk from the NCAA offices and NCAA Hall of Champions are another pair of world-class venues downtown, on the campus of Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis (IUPUI). The IUPUI Natatorium has been a frequent host to U.S. Olympic Trials, and the Michael Carroll Track & Field Stadium is a frequent host of Olympic Trials events and the USA Outdoor Track & Field Championships.

Indy is home to six unique "cultural districts," each bustling with its own distinct flavor, flair and mix of pubs, restaurants, shops, arts and attractions.

Then there is a world-class urban park, White River State Park, with five major attractions within steps of each other. Stroll from the Indianapolis Zoo to the Indiana State Museum to the NCAA Hall of Champions to the Eiteljorg Museum of American Indians and Western Art to the Medal of Honor Winners Memorial. In the summertime, you can also catch a concert performed by renowned recording artists at The Lawn or a baseball game at Victory Field.

White River State Park also serves as the portal to the enchanting Central Canal, an ideal place to walk, jog or ride its one-and-a-half-mile length on a pedal boat or gondola.

The park is just one of 50 major attractions located within Indy's deliberately designed downtown that places dozens of hotels, more than 200 restaurants, shopping (including the 100 stores and shops of Circle Centre mall), cultural attractions and sports venues such as Bankers Life Fieldhouse and Lucas Oil Stadium within a few blocks. Even better, most are connected by the city's system of enclosed skywalks.

Just a short distance from downtown, the Children's Museum of Indianapolis, the world's largest, beckons to the young and young of heart. Nearby is the Indianapolis Museum of Art, which houses one of the largest general collections in the United States.

Other major attractions ring the city, including the delightful Conner Prairie, a living history museum that instantly transports visitors to 19th century Indiana; Traders Point Creamery, an organic farm featuring award-winning dairy products, or the enchanting village of Zionsville.

But as much as there is to love about Indiana's capital city, it's only getting better.

The 63,000-seat Lucas Oil Stadium opened in August 2008. Featuring a retractable roof, this multi-function stadium is not just home to the Colts, but the 2010 and 2015 NCAA Men's Final Fours, Big Ten Football Championship Games since 2011, the 2012 Super Bowl, music competitions, conventions, trade shows and concerts.

The new $1 billion Weir Cook Terminal also has opened at Indianapolis International Airport. It is the first terminal to be constructed post-9/11 and features state-of-the-art security and convenience.

Recently completed is a complex of four hotel properties known as Marriott Place. The complex, adjacent to White River State Park and the Indiana Convention Center, includes 1,600 rooms and brings to 4,700 rooms (most in the country) connected to a convention center complex.

Also recently completed is Indy's "Cultural Trail." The landscaped trail will link the city's six cultural districts with biking and pedestrian pathways that will feature public art.

Whatever your pleasure – nightlife, museums, sports, music, arts, dining, shopping – it can be found in Indianapolis, all contained in a remarkable package of ease and convenience.

FINISH LINE

Just hours before Indiana hosted Game 3 of the WNBA Finals on Oct. 19, 2012, Pacers Sports & Entertainment and the Indiana Fever announced a marquee partnership with athletic retailer Finish Line that will feature the Finish Line logo on Fever team jerseys beginning in the 2013 season. The Finish Line brand will be integrated into Fever television broadcasts and team merchandise, team advertising and signage at Bankers Life Fieldhouse.

Where the Fever players are shown in uniform, Finish Line will be there too.

The multi-year agreement combines brand awareness with the Fever as well as activation of the Finish Line Ball Kids Program to be executed at all home games for the Fever and Indiana Pacers. Finish Line also will receive in-game advertising as part of the Pacers and Fever radio networks, and web links on FeverBasketball.com and BankersLifeFieldhouse.com.

A multi-year extension was agreed upon in 2015. By the end of its second term, beginning in 2016, the Fever-Finish Line relationship will become the longest-tenured jersey partnership in WNBA history

"I am proud to partner with the Indiana Fever, one of the premiere women's professional sports teams in America," said Glenn Lyon, chairman and chief executive officer of Finish Line. "We are both teams that show dedication, commitment to our community and passion to be the best."

"Reaching agreement with Finish Line is one of the landmark moments in our franchise history," said Kelly Krauskopf, whose team won the 2012 WNBA championship just two days later. "Finish Line is a widely respected national brand in the athletic retail market. Partnering with such a reputable and prestigious company as Finish Line will enhance our own branding and visibility in the Indiana sports community and abroad."

Consumers in Central Indiana and all 12 WNBA markets will see the Finish Line logo during Fever radio and TV broadcasts as well as the Fever's Live Stream Webcast presented by Finish Line. Visitors to Bankers Life Fieldhouse will see the Finish Line logo aligned with the Fever on banners inside the building as well as on LED, courtside and scoreboard advertising during all Fever home games. A "Race to the Finish Line" scoreboard promotion also will take place during every Fever home game.

One of the most consistently competitive franchises in the WNBA, Indiana's jersey sponsorship became the sixth of its kind in the then-16-year league.

KELLY KRAUSKOPF
PRESIDENT AND GENERAL MANAGER, INDIANA FEVER

@FeverPrez
TWITTER

Kelly Krauskopf is in her 18th season as the Indiana Fever's top executive, engineering the franchise from its birth in 1999 and directing the club's business and basketball interests all the way to three WNBA Finals appearances since 2009 and its first league championship in 2012. The club's chief operating officer through 16 seasons and the past 12 as general manager, she was promoted to President and General Manager in October 2012.

Since the team was established, Krauskopf has been the guiding force of the Fever from building the team roster to building a fan base for Indiana's WNBA franchise. In her role with the Fever, Krauskopf oversees all aspects of the team's operation.

Since moving to Indianapolis and beginning the task of building a WNBA franchise, Krauskopf has engineered numerous player moves enabling the Fever to sustain arguably the highest level of consistency the 20-year WNBA has ever seen.

Krauskopf has guided the franchise to 12 playoff berths in its first 16 seasons – including a run of 11 consecutive from 2005 to 2015. Indiana has become one of the WNBA's most successful franchises, joining the Los Angeles Sparks as the only clubs in league history to post eight 20-win seasons. In fact, the Fever is the league's only franchise ever to post seven 20-win seasons in an eight-year span (2005-12).

Under Krauskopf's guidance, the Fever secured identical 21-13 records in 2005, 2006, 2007, 2010 and 2011; and set its club standard with 22-12 records in each of its first two seasons reaching the WNBA Finals - 2009 and 2012.

Though Indiana reached the WNBA Finals in 2009 and though the franchise had achieved such consistent, annual success, the Fever had never won the title -- until the 2012 season culminated in a magical playoff run resulting in the city's first professional basketball crown since the 1973 ABA Indiana Pacers.

The Krauskopf-built Fever is the most stable the franchise has ever been, led by perennial All-Star and three-time Olympic gold medalist Tamika Catchings and a mix of young fresh faces such as Briann January, Lynetta Kizer and Shenise Johnson.

The hiring of Lin Dunn as head coach in 2008 only added to the club's stability. Inducted into the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame in 2014, Dunn joined the franchise as a scout in 2003, an assistant coach in 2004, and led the franchise to unprecedented playoff success in seven seasons as head coach.

Following Dunn's retirement, Krauskopf tabbed Stephanie White as the club's fifth head coach. White, an Indiana prep and collegiate icon before her own career in the WNBA and later broadcasting and coaching, was Krauskopf's very first trade acquisiton in 1999, joining the Fever for the club's inaugural season.

After Dunn's successful tenure, White's hiring proved no less fruitful, guiding Indiana to the WNBA Finals in her first season - after a year which many analysts predicted could be a rebuilding year for the club.

Annually one of the league's most active GMs, Krauskopf's key trades and free agent signings have re-tooled the Fever roster over the years. Besides a February 2008 deal to land hometown star Katie Douglas, other moves have resulted in the acquisitions of past stars Erin Phillips, Tangela Smith, Natalie Williams, Yolanda Griffith, and Kelly Miller. A midseason move during the 2002 campaign brought veteran guard Coquese Washington to the Fever to ignite a late run to the franchise's first appearance in the WNBA Playoffs.

The cornerstone of the franchise was solidified by the draft selection of Catchings in the 2001 WNBA Draft. The third overall selection in the 2001 Draft and a three-time U.S. Olympian, Catchings was named Rookie of the Year in 2002 and Defensive Player of the Year in 2005, 2006, 2009, 2010 and 2012. The nine-time WNBA All-Star and 10-time All-WNBA selection finally earned a long-deserved MVP honor in 2011, finishing in the top five in MVP balloting 10 times. She won her first WNBA crown while earning Finals MVP honors in 2012.

Krauskopf recently served on USA Basketball's Women's Senior National Team Committee, helping select WNBA players to develop U.S. National Team rosters. Krauskopf joined the committee in 2000, helping select the gold-medal winning roster for the 2004 Summer Olympics in Athens, and again for Beijing in 2008 and London in 2012.

Krauskopf has been in the forefront of the development of the WNBA. In September 1996, she was named the WNBA's first Director of Basketball Operations. In that role, she was involved in all phases of the league's start-up operation and initiatives. She also developed the league's first set of playing rules, officiating policies, scheduling and other league standards, while working daily with WNBA team general managers and operations personnel.

Before joining the WNBA, Krauskopf was the Managing Director of League Development for Media Sports Partnership, Limited in Dallas, Tex. From 1990 to 1994, she was Assistant Commissioner for the Southwest Conference. In addition to overseeing league marketing, she was the chief administrator for all eight women's sports programs in the conference. She served from 1986 to 1990 as Texas A&M's Assistant Athletic Director for Women's Sports/Marketing.

Krauskopf has served on committees for the Women's Sports Foundation, the Women's Basketball Coaches Association, Citizenship for Sports Alliance, and Texas A&M's Lettermen's Association Board of Directors. She currently serves on the Indiana Sports Corporation Presidents Council.

Recently, she was part of the Local Organizing Committee that hosted the 2011 NCAA Women's Final Four at Bankers Life Fieldhouse where she proudly watched her alma mater win its first national championship in women's basketball. She will be a part of the LOC that brings the Women's Final Four back to The Fieldhouse in 2016.

A 1983 graduate of Texas A&M University with a bachelor of arts degree in journalism, she was a three-year letterwinner in basketball for the Lady Aggies after transferring from Stephen F. Austin University where she played her freshman year under legendary coach Sue Gunter.

STEPHANIE WHITE
HEAD COACH

@StephanieWhite
TWITTER

An iconic figure in the state's history of women's basketball known for her skill, grit, poise and knowledge of the game, Stephanie White was introduced as the fifth head coach of the Indiana Fever on Sept. 23, 2014.

Taking the coaching reigns from her longtime mentor Lin Dunn, she succeeded Dunn, Brian Winters, Nell Fortner and Anne Donovan as the club's head coach.

In her first regular season as head coach, she did not disappoint, guiding Indiana to a 20-14 record and breaking the club mark for wins by a first-year head coach.

In her first playoffs venture as head coach, she led Indiana to the WNBA Finals, becoming the first rookie head coach in league history to do so.

Despite employing a modified offensive system and enduring a rash of consistent injuries and absences with 10 different starting lineups, White became just the third rookie head coach in WNBA history to notch 20 wins.

A local star who joined the Fever as a player during a 1999 trade prior to the team's first season, White completed four seasons with the Fever (2000-01, 2003-04) before embarking on her coaching and broadcasting career. She returned as an Indiana assistant coach in 2011 and was elevated to the role of associate head coach prior to the 2014 season.

One of the club's original players and a member of the Fever's All-Decade Team announced in 2009, the Fever's 2012 WNBA title had special meaning for White who enjoyed prep, college and pro success in the state of Indiana.

She has coached in the college and pro ranks since 2003. She retired from playing in the WNBA following the 2004 season and her hiring in 2011 marked the first time the Fever had hired an assistant coach with pro playing experience. She was reunited with Dunn, the former Purdue coach who recruited White to its West Lafayette campus.

Prior to re-joining the Fever, White spent four seasons as an assistant coach with the Chicago Sky after previous stints as a college assistant at Ball State (2003-04), Kansas State (2004-05) and Toledo (2005-07).

White also has parlayed her playing and coaching into a prominent broadcasting career with the Big Ten Network, ESPN and FOX Sports Indiana. She appears regularly on BTN's women's basketball studio show and provides game analysis for men's and women's college games on BTN and ESPN. She also covers the NBA as a pre- and postgame anchor with FOX Sports Indiana, following the Indiana Pacers.

After leading Purdue to a national championship in 1999 and being drafted by the Charlotte Sting (2nd round, No. 21 overall), White was eventually acquired by the Fever in December 1999 to lead her hometown team into its first season of existence. White played four seasons with the Fever where she was a teammate of current Fever star Tamika Catchings.

A 5-10 shooting guard, she played five pro seasons between 1999-04, capping her career with the Fever for whom she was one of the club's top playmakers, 3-point artists and free throw shooters. She still ranks prominently among franchise leaders in games played, minutes, 3-pointers, assists, steals, 3-point percentage and free throw percentage. Her 93 percent free throw shooting in 2003 remains a Fever record.

White's legacy as a prep and college star made her one of the state's most popular figures even before she donned a Fever uniform. Beginning at tiny Seeger Memorial High School, in West Central Indiana near the Illinois border, White set early standards for basketball excellence while becoming an Indiana icon. She averaged 36.9 points and 13.1 rebounds per game while being named Indiana Miss Basketball and the 1995 national high school player of the year by Gatorade and USA Today.

Record crowds began following the small-school sensation as she led the Patriots to a 92-7 record over four seasons and finished her prep career with an Indiana record 2,869 points, still the third-best figure in state history.

In Indiana's years of single-class basketball, White and Seeger won sectional and regional titles in all four seasons that she played.

At Purdue, she averaged double-figure scoring in four straight seasons. As a senior she averaged 20.2 points and 4.5 assists per game while earning the 1999 Wade Trophy as the national college player of the year. The Big Ten Player of the Year, she led Purdue to an unbeaten league mark (16-0) and its first NCAA title. She finished her career second in school history in points and assists.

She was inducted into the Purdue Athletics Hall of Fame on April 21, 2006.

Internationally, White competed with USA Basketball as a member of the 1997 Jones Cup Team that won a silver medal in Taipei, Taiwan. The USA lost the gold medal game against South Korea, 76-71, with White finishing the tournament as the second-leading scorer for the U.S., averaging 10.3 points per game.

Born in Danville, Ill., and raised in West Lebanon, Ind., White gave birth to her first child, Landon Fletcher White, on Sept. 27, 2011 — the morning of Game 3 of the 2011 Eastern Conference Finals. White and partner Michelle welcomed twin boys, Aiden and Avery, on Aug. 3, 2013.

STEVEN KEY
ASSISTANT COACH

Steven Key begins his first season as an assistant coach with the Indiana Fever, following 2014 and 2015 seasons with the Connecticut Sun under coach Anne Donovan.

In Indiana, Key is re-united with Fever coach Stephanie White, who worked beside him during a four-year stretch (2007-10) with the Chicago Sky.

Key spent five seasons with the Sky, serving as head coach and general manager for three years (2008-10) after two as an assistant. He compiled a 42-60 mark with the Sky from 2008-10, leading Chicago to what was then a franchise-record 16 wins in 2009.

As an assistant, Key helped launch the Chicago franchise in 2006, joining the staff of head coach Dave Cowens after three years as the head coach of the Dusseldorf Magics, a Bundesliga men's basketball team in Germany. In his final season, he led the Magics to a 19-11 record in the Second Division.

Between WNBA jobs in Chicago and Connecticut, he returned to the German Bundesliga (BBL) as head coach of the Giessen 46ers in 2011, and spent two years as an assistant and head coach with MHP Riesen in Ludwigsburg (2012 and 2013).

The 6-foot-4 Key was a point guard at Boston University from 1986-90. Playing for Mike Jarvis, Key was the 1990 America East Conference Player of the Year, averaging.14.5 points and 7.5 assists as a senior.

Key was the last player cut by the Los Angeles Clippers in 1990, and then played professionally for the San Jose Jammers of the Continental Basketball Association before embarking on a 12-year career playing in Austria, Germany and France. Key was a three-time All-Star in Germany, where he played against German native and future Dallas Mavericks' star Dirk Nowitzki.

A native of Columbia, Maryland, Key was the Howard County Player of the Year as a senior at Atholton High School in 1986. One of five children in a tight-knit and athletic family, Key learned basketball from his sister Kimberlee, who went on to play at Saginaw Valley State with college and WNBA coaching veteran Gail Goestenkors. Key's sister Darlynda received a scholarship to run for the University of Michigan's track team while his brother Josh played basketball at Northwood University. His father Sam played professionally overseas.

Key and his wife Janka have one daughter, Sidney Kiana, and one son, Noah Gabriel.

GARY KLOPPENBURG
ASSISTANT COACH

In his second stint with the Fever and sixth year overall, Gary Kloppenburg has helped design trademark defensive units that have had the Fever among the WNBA's top three scoring defenses every season from 2005-14.

Beginning his 13th season in the WNBA, Kloppenburg coached under Lin Dunn in Seattle (2000-02), spent 2003 with Phoenix, and resumed ties with Dunn in Indiana (2008-11) before embarking on his first head coaching role with Tulsa in 2012 and 2013. He was an assistant with the Los Angeles Sparks in 2014 and he joined Stephanie White's staff with the Fever in 2015.

White and Kloppenburg, in fact, also shared the Fever bench in 2011, as assistants to Dunn.

Kloppenburg used his years of WNBA experience to net the Shock's head position, and helped a three-win Tulsa franchise improve to nine wins in 2012 and 11 in 2013.

Prior to joining Dunn's staff with the Fever, he was on the staff of the NBA's Charlotte Bobcats, where he served under Bernie Bickerstaff for three seasons. Kloppenburg was hired by Bickerstaff when the Bobcats were founded in 2004 – continuing a family bond established when Bickerstaff was in college, and strengthened when Gary's father Bob coached in the NBA with Bickerstaff in Seattle and Denver.

Kloppenburg has coached at virtually every level of college and professional basketball, ranging from his beginnings at a California community college and intertwined with jobs in the NBA, WNBA, Continental Basketball Association and internationally.

Prior to joining the Bobcats' staff as an assistant coach and advance scout, he was an assistant with the WNBA's Mercury for one season after three years with Dunn in Seattle. He worked for the NBA's Toronto Raptors from 1997-99 after two seasons as an assistant coach and assistant director of player personnel in the CBA – first with the Rockford Lightning and then for the Quad City Thunder. Kloppenburg was the interim head coach for four games in 1999-00 with Rockford where he coached former NBA star Earl Boykins.

In the summer of 1999, he was head coach for Panteras de Miranda of the Venezuelan Professional League, and he has conducted basketball clinics in Greece, Belgium, Iceland and Japan.

After graduating from UC San Diego in 1981, his coaching career began at Lassen Community College (Calif.) where he had successful stints as head coach with both the men's and women's teams. He guided the women's team for five seasons before taking over the men's program for six.

Also fluent in Spanish, Kloppenburg was born Jan. 6, 1953, and has three children – Sonja, Ian and Carlotta. Carlotta, a former coaching intern with the Fever, played at Point Loma Nazarene College and was a graduate assistant coach at Winthrop University in 2015. Currently, she is the director of operations for the women's basketball program at Arizona State.

Indiana's "do-everything" forward has completed 15 seasons in the WNBA, and although she intends to step away from her future-hall-of-fame-career following the 2016 season, perhaps her greatest impact has been made off the floor. Her naming as recipient of the very first ESPN Humanitarian Award in 2015 and an 11-year run of community service by her Catch The Stars Foundation are testament to her work off the court.

In March 2016, Catchings will release an autobiographical story written by Ken Petersen with a Foreword by Tony Dungy. Catch A Star: Shining through Adversity to Become a Champion tells Catchings' story of overcoming. She faced being set apart by her hearing loss, separation from family, high expectations and the pain of debilitating physical injury. She reached for the stars with hard work, perseverance and her faith in God. Through the silence, she found a way to shine.

On the court, Catchings' legacy is already cemented as one of the greatest women ever to play the game. She will enter the 2016 WNBA season as the league's No. 2 scorer (6,947 points) and rebounder (3,153) of all-time, already its career leader in free throws (1,898) and steals (1,012). In postseason play, nobody has appeared in as many WNBA Playoff games (67) as Catchings, or started as many (66). She also is the WNBA postseason leader in points (1,128), rebounds (588), free throws (351), steals (149), double-doubles (26) and minutes played (2,280). She is second in postseason assists (223), fourth in blocked shots (62) and fifth in 3-point field goals (81).

Catchings enters the 2016 season as the WNBA's active leader in points, rebounds, steals and free throws.

She earned WNBA Finals MVP honors while leading the Fever to the 2012 WNBA championship. A year earlier, in 2011, she captured her first regular-season MVP honor.

The first man or woman in recorded basketball history to record a quintuple-double (Duncanville High School in 1997), Catchings' leadership, tenacity and all-around skills have led the Indiana Fever to becoming one of the WNBA's elite franchises. The Fever have reached the playoffs 12 times in Catchings' 14 active seasons, including a current WNBA-record run of 11-in-a-row. The Fever reached the conference finals eight times, including five straight seasons. The Fever won a WNBA championship in 2012 and came within one game of two more championships in five-game WNBA Finals appearances in 2009 and 2015. Catchings has played in every playoff game in Fever history.

Among her All-Star peers, Catchings is the leading scorer in WNBA All-Star Game history, and the only player to appear in 10 WNBA All-Star Games. She actually has been voted to 11 All-Star Games, including the 2006 season in which she was the league's top vote-getter, but missed the game due to injury.

Catchings is the WNBA's only player ever to spend an entire career of 16 or more seasons with the same franchise. Embarking on her 15th active season (not counting 2001) with the Fever, Catchings joins an elite list of NBA counterparts with as many seasons of an entire career playing with the same team: Kobe Bryant (19), John Stockton (19), Tim Duncan (18), Reggie Miller (18), Dirk Nowitzki (17), John Havlicek (16), Hal Greer (15), Tony Parker (15). Elgin Baylor (14), Joe Dumars (14), David Robinson (14) and Jerry West (14) all played 14 years with their respective teams.

In Fall 2014, Catchings announced her intentions to retire following the 2016 WNBA season which coincides with the Summer Olympics in August 2016, in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. Catchings hopes to join an elite club with Teresa Edwards and Lisa Leslie who are currently the only American basketball players, male or female, to earn four Olympic gold medals. A three-time Olympic gold medalist for the United States, she won gold at the 2004 Olympics in Athens, Greece; the 2008 Olympics in Beijing, China and the 2012 Games in London where she served as a U.S. tri-captain alongside Sue Bird and Diana Taurasi.

A telling note of durability is that Catchings has played at least 30 games in 11 of her 14 active seasons. In 2012, at age 33, Catchings was the only WNBA player to start every regular season (34) and playoff game (10), as well as every game in the Olympics (8). In 2015, at age 36, Catchings defied expectations with 13.1 points and 7.8 rebounds per game in 30 regular season starts, followed by an improbable playoff run that included averages of 15.5 points and 6.9 rebounds through a league-record 11 playoff games. Her 47 percent 3-point shooting in the 2015 playoffs was the best of her career.

Universally liked by fans, media, coaches and fellow players, she has twice been named the winner of the WNBA's Kim Perrot Sportsmanship Award. She won it outright in 2010 and shared the honor with Chicago's Swin Cash in 2013.

She was named the WNBA's Defensive Player of the Year in 2012, receiving the award an unprecedented five times – in 2005, 2006, 2009, 2010 and 2012. Catchings was second in WNBA MVP balloting in 2002, 2009 and 2010, and has finished among the top three in balloting for the WNBA MVP Award in seven of her 14 active pro seasons. She has finished among the top five in MVP balloting in 10 of 14 active seasons, asserting herself as one of the world's premier players. She has scored in 421 of 423 games played in her pro career. She is a 10-time WNBA All-Star and a 12-time All-WNBA recipient. She has earned WNBA Player of the Week honors 22 times, more than any player in league history.

She has averaged 16.4 points, 7.5 rebounds, 3.4 assists and 2.4 steals per game during her career. Catchings led the Fever in points per game, rebounds, assists and steals in each of her first six active pro seasons and again in 2010 and 2011 – no other WNBA player has led her team in as many categories in even one of those seasons.

Catchings became the WNBA's all-time leader in steals during the 2011 season and she emerged from the 2012 season as the league's all-time leader in free throws made. She is the only player in WNBA history to rank among Top 25 all-time leaders in points, rebounds, assists, steals and blocks – and Catchings actually ranks in the Top 12 in all of them: points (6,947, 2nd), rebounds (3,153, 2nd), assists (1,422, 7th), steals (1,012, 1st) and blocks (375, 11th. She also ranks among WNBA career leaders in free throws made (1,898, 1st) and 3-point field goals made (571, 9th. She is the only player 6-feet or taller ranked among Top 10 WNBA assist leaders. She averages more steals per game (2.39) than any player in WNBA history with more than two seasons. Catchings owns four of the top five single-season steals figures in league history and in 2009 finished just one shy of Teresa Weatherspoon's league record of 100 in a season (94 in 2006; 94 in 2002; 90 in 2005; 99 in 2009). A member of the WNBA's 10th Anniversary All-Decade Team, awarded in 2006, she is the only player in WNBA history to ever rank in the league's top 10 in scoring, rebounding, assists, steals and blocked shots in the same season. "The sky's the limit," said Lin Dunn about 2011 top draft pick Jeanette Pohlen…all Pohlen did as a rookie was lead the WNBA in 3-point shooting percentage while appearing in all 34 games… since that time, unfortunately, Pohlen has navigated a troublesome path of injury.

As a second-year star in 2012, she shot 42 percent from 3-point range, hit 5-of-5 3-point attempts in the playoffs and helped Indiana to the WNBA title, despite a torn left ACL sustained in Game 2 of the Finals vs. Minnesota…the former AP first-team All-American and the Pac-10 Player of the Year saw limited time in her third pro season with Indiana, as her rehab continued...prior to a 2014 season when she anticipated a clean bill of health, she succumbed to a torn left Achilles tendon.

She has signed free-agent contracts with the Fever prior to each of the 2015 and 2016 seasons.

She guided Stanford to the 2011 NCAA Final Four where it lost in the national semifinal game to eventual champion Texas A&M on what would become her home floor at Bankers Life Fieldhouse…Pohlen and Stanford reached the Final Four in four consecutive seasons...a pair of her fans while at Stanford were student-athlete buddies Andrew Luck and Coby Fleenor, each of whom was drafted by the Indianapolis Colts.

Wheeler finished her Rutgers career with 1,027 career points, and ranked fifth all-time at RU in 3-point field goals made (157), third in 3-point field goals attempted (500) and 10th on the Scarlet Knight all-time 3-point field goal percentage list (.314)...as a senior, she was an honorable mention All-BIG EAST selection as she led the team in scoring at 10.5 points per game...she led the Scarlet Knights in 3-point shooting at a .354 clip and finished the season attempting 178 shots from downtown to tie for second on the RU single season list for 3-pointers attempted.

PERSONAL

The daughter of Eric Wheeler and Melissa Cooper, Wheeler grew up in her grandmother's five-bedroom house with a dozen other siblings and relatives until she was 11, in a rough-and-tumble section of Miami...her mother helped steer her from playing pick-up ball in local parks, toward organized school and basketball at Monsignor Pace, and eventually Parkway Academy (late in freshman year)...Wheeler helped Parkway to a pair of state championships as a junior and senior in 2008 and 2009... considering South Carolina, LSU and Florida among college choices besides Rutgers, Wheeler was rated the No. 5 point guard in the ESPNU HoopGurlz 100...she was a labor studies major at Rutgers...her mother passed away during her senior year of college and Wheeler credits RU coach C. Vivian Stringer for helping her become "a young woman that will be ready for life." ... Wheeler pays tribute to her mother with tattoos on her right shoulder blade and right leg.

GAME

Tamika Whitmore's 41 points for Indiana in a 98-83 playoff loss at Detroit, 8/19/06, was a WNBA Playoff record until 2010. Whitmore made 15-of-22 shots and added 10 rebounds in what was one of the greatest playoff performances in league history. Pacing the Fever while Tamika Catchings was lost for the second half due to a concussion, Whitmore scored 25 points in the second half, including 15 in the third quarter.

Shavonte Zellous' 30 points in Game 3 of the 2012 WNBA Finals matched the third-highest scoring output in Indiana playoff history. Zellous hit 10-of-17 shots in the game while staking the Fever to a stunning 37-point third-quarter advantage (70-33), which is the largest lead in Finals history. Zellous shot 18-of-18 from the FT line during the series and closed the 2012 campaign with 19 straight free throws made.

Erlana Larkins established a new Fever record with 109 rebounds during the 2012 playoffs season. She matched a league standard with nine offensive rebounds and grabbed 20 boards overall in Game 3 of the East Semis to match Tamika Catchings' mark which is second in league playoffs history. She twice registered 15 rebounds in the Finals which fell one shy of the single-game mark in a championship series.
